Clwyd Vale Motor Club raises £1600 for vital Action for Children short breaks service

Action for Children's vital Arosfa short breaks service in Mold has received a wonderful donation of £1600 courtesy of Clwyd Vale Motor Club. Arosfa provides short respite breaks for disabled children and young people aged 6-18 giving them a high quality break from home and their families much needed respite.

The club raised the money through a series of events including two dinner dances and individual members who have also donated money over the last year.

Club secretary, Pat Jones, said: 'We always like to donate to something local and we thought Arosfa was a really worthy cause. We can also see the end product because I know they're going to convert the gazebo into a nice little room for the children. The club just thought it was a really good project to get behind and help out with as Arosfa do great work in our community.'

Clwyd Vale Motor Club has been running in the Denbighshire area for over 50 years and a club member, Rhodri Roberts, gave a special ride to Seb who uses the Arosfa service in a historic Mini rally car before the cheque was presented to the service.

Jude Vaughn, Arosfa's project manager said: 'We're thrilled with this donation as converting our gazebo to a more functional space for our children and young people will make a genuine difference to the time they spend with us at Arosfa. I'd like to say a big thank you to Clwyd Vale Motor Club for their generosity and taking Seb for a spin in the classic Mini, they've been brilliant.'
